

Job offer

CEO general manager BATTBELT PROJECT

New mechanical battery management system that allows the internal pressure and its evolution for better performance. Battbelt allows the internal pressure and its evolution to be controlled for a better performance, using smart superelastic materials.

Batteries with 30% greater life and 5% better volumetric density, with no added cost with respect to the current solutions.

Go to the project

Full-time

Arrasate-Mondragón

In-person+remote

Main tasks

- Redefining and implementing the business model aimed at achieving profitability targets
- In charge of contact with stakeholders and searching for future customer network
- Reporting directly to the board of directors
- Overall responsibility for administration and management
- Setting up a team, establishing targets, creating business culture

Profile

- Academic background: Higher qualification, master's degree in engineering or similar. MBA and knowledge of engineering & background in the energy and/or automotive sector and/or with special emphasis on the Li-ion battery systems will be considered an asset.
- Experience: 3-5 years in similar general management and/or business development posts in SMEs or start-ups in electric mobility sectors and the energy, renewable and energy storage equipment sector. High level contacts in those sectors will be considered an asset

Interested?
This way please